

I pay for XM radio so I dont have to listen to all the other garbage on the radio (advertising). AM/FM stations have become ad after ad after ad. It is not about the quality of the programming, it is about advertising dollars. Just when you need it (prime time) is when it is the worst. XM provides an avenue of quality programming without this garbage. People will pay to not be bombarded with advertising.

I think getting Weather and Traffic is just another piece of information that I want that I dont have to listen to all the garbage to get it. It is like filtering through 20 spam messages to get the one good email from a friend.

America is tired of it!
